DETAILED ACTION

Applicants' arguments, filed 12/20/03, have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

PRIOR ART

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 47-49, 52, and 53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Meade et al. (WO 95/15971).

This rejection is reiterated and maintained from the previous office action, mailed 8/26/03. Applicants argue that Meade et al. is a generic disclosure and that the instant invention is a specie which is distinct. In response the instant claims are not being interpreted as a specie wherein the Meade et al. disclosure is generic. Rather the instant claims are deemed to be generic in requiring that an ETM is covalently attached to an α -carbon without limitation as to what this covalent attachment is limited to. The

Art Unit: 1631

Meade et al. PNA-electrode (ETM) compositions are fully covalent structures with each and every part thereof attached generically covalently to each and every other part through said covalent structure. Equivalently, the instantly claimed PNA-ETM compositions are also fully covalent structures with each and every part thereof attached generically covalently to each and every other part via said covalent structure. Applicants may be envisioning the instant claims, such as claim 47, to contain an additional limitation such that covalent attachment between the PNA and an ETM cannot include a complex covalent structure that may include a wide variety of PNA backbone etc. therein. That is, applicants seem to be arguing that only one covalent bond is present between the α -carbon of the PNA moiety and the ETM. No such single covalent bond limitation is seen anywhere in the instant claims. Therefore, the covalent attachment between the PNA and ETM of the reference does anticipate the limitation of covalent attachment as claimed. Therefore, the above argument is non-persuasive.

Claims 47-49, 52, and 53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e)(2) as being clearly anticipated by Megerle (P/N 5,874,046).

This rejection is reiterated and maintained from the previous office action, mailed 8/26/03. Applicants argue this rejection equivalently to the above rejection. In response said argument is equally non-persuasive here for the same reasons as described above.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 47-49, 53, 60, and 61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mirkin et al. (P/N 6,361,944).

This rejection is reiterated and maintained from the previous office action, mailed 8/26/03. Applicants argue this rejection equivalently to the above two rejections. In response said argument is equally non-persuasive here for the same reasons as described above. In addition applicants argue that Mirkin et al. may not have have subject matter priority to predate the instant application. In response this is an allegation without factual support and therefore non-persuasive. Also, in response Mirkin et al. is understood to have subject matter priority to the instant application.

No claim is allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicants are reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
